FORTY-SIXTH CONGRESS. DAILY PROCEEDINGS OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

ir. Gibson's Bill--Opposition to the Retirement of Greenbacks-Other Important Matters.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 .- Mr. Gibson, of Louisiana, introduced a bill which was referred to the committee on commerce for the appointment of an interoceanic Commission to determine the best plan and route for the establishment of communication for trade and commerce between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans across the Isthmus of Darien. (It provides for the appointment, by the President, of a Commission to consist of five members to be selected one from the navy, one from the army, one from the coast survey and two from civil life, the three first to serve without extra compensation and the two latter to receive $500 per month, which Commission shall be called Inter-Oceanic Commission.)

Mr. Gillette, of Iowa, introduced a bill in opposition to the retirement of greenbacks in favor of substituting them for National bank notes, and for free coinage of silver. Referred. The Speaker then proceeded to call committees for reports of a private na-

Mr. Baker, of Indiana, from the committee on appropriations reported back the fortification appropriation bill, which was referred to the committee of the whole, and the House then at 1:20 went into committee upon that bill.

Mr. Booker proceeded to explan the provisions of the bill, with one single exception the bill was the same as had been reported for the two last years. It appropriated for the preservation and repair of fortification ten thousand dollars and fifty thousand for the preparation of torpedoes for the harbor defense. The item for the amount of sea coast fortification including heavy guns. Howitzers power, &c., had been increased by seven of the one hundred thousand dollars, so that the item of the present bill amounted to two hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars in the place of one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars last year. The estimate of the chief of ordinance for that service had been one million sixty-seven thousand dollars. The Secretary of War had reduced that estimate to five hundred thousand dollars, and the committee had reduced it to two hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars. The increase in the appropriation was for the purpose of converting smooth bored cannons into rifled guns. If hundred and twenty thousand dollars a year for that purpose it would be twenty years before enough could be converted to arm the forts in the harbor of New York. Mr. Reagan moved to amend by making an appropriation of $50,000 for batteries for the defence of Galveston harbor. He spoke in favor of his amendment. The city of Galveston could be bombed by any vessel of maritime power, and if it was necessary to provide for the defence of other sea ports it was also necessary to provide r the defence of that one. Baker opposed the amendment. It was the policy of the Committee on Appropriations to construct no new fortications, but simply to preserve those already constructed. After some fur-ther discussion, Mr. Reagan's amendment was rejected, when the Committee reported the bill to the House and it was passed. The House then at 2 o'clock went into a committee of the whole, Mr. Hooker, of Mississippi, in the chair, on the pension and appropriation bill. Mr. Hubbell, of Michigan, proceeded to explain the bill. It appropriated $32,404,000 as against $29,266,000 last year. That increase had been necessiated by the large increase in the number of pensioners during the past year. The bill was agreed to in the committee without amendment, and on its being reported to the House was passed. The House then went into a committee of the whole, Mr. Mills, of Texas, in the chair, on private calendar, and a

ALBANY, Dec. 12 .- The board of State Canvassers met at noon to-day, and proceeded to canvass the returns of the ate State election. After canvassing the votes on each candidate, certain imperfect ballots were allowed to the candidates they were intended for. Those ware chiefly ballots with the initials instead of the full name on them, and also erroneous spelling of names. Resolutions were then adopted declaring elected the candidates receiving the greatest number of votes. It was found, as already published, that all Republican candidates except the candidate for State Engineer, were elected. and they were declared elected. Hora tio Seymour, Jr., Democratic candi date for State Engineer and Surveyor, was declared elected, and Geo. J. Hos kins, Republican candidate for Lieut Governor, was declared elected.

A Fearful Flood.

VIENNA, Dec. 11.—Nearly all the rivers and brooks in Transylvania have overflowed their banks, laying under water vast tracts of country and destroying bridges and houses, interrupting communications, sweeping away farming utensels, cattle and grain. In some cases the inhabitants were for days on trees and roofs of houses await-

Whole Town Destroyed by Fire.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.- A special from Bradford, Pa., says that the town of Red Rock has been entirely destroyed by fire. At an early hour this morning tank of coal oil containing twenty thousand barrels of oil caught fire and exploded, and the flames spread with fearful rapidity. In an incredible brief time the fire had attacked and destroyed the entire village containing two hundred houses, and in a few hours rendered more than that number of amilies homeless and utterly destitute. Immediately on receipt of the above dispatch subscriptions were started at the Petroleum Exchange by manager S. F. Strong, and the members responded liberally. The funds are remitted by telegraph as fast as received.

The Readjuster elected their candidate, Captain Asa Rodgers, Jr., over Colonel Thomas Carter, the present incumbent whose term, however, does not expire until April, 1881.

WHO RULES THE PENNSYLVANIA DEMOCRACY.

What Mr. Randall Says About It.

Philadelphia Times. Speaker Randell's views on the reent contest in Philadelphia are so interesting and important that a representative of the Times visited him at his home this evening and interviewed him. The following is the result: "What is the Presidential preference of the delegates to the State Conven-

"They are much divided," said the Speaker, "and the claim made of their unanimity in favor of any candidate is sheer pretence. There are twenty of them who do not sympathize and were not elected by people who sympathize with the present management of the party in Philadelphia,"

"The present management means the sheriff's office, does it not? And the present management of the 'sheriff's office' means Mr. Wallace?"
"Yes; they are in harmony with

"Will you kindly explain precisely the meaning of last Wednesday's election in its bearing on the Democratic National Convention?"

"The election last Wednesday," said Mr. Randall, "was for delegates to the State Convention, and these delegates will determine, so far as Philadelphia goes, the complexion of the delegates to the National Convention."

"What do you say of the assertion made by Mr. R. M. Speer, or what purports to be an assertion by him, pub-lished in to-day's Sun?"

"The claim made in The Sun by Mr. Speer, late Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, that the Philadelphia Congress continued to appropriate two | delegation is solid for Hancock or any other Presidential candidate, is without semblance of truth. "What marked the difference between the factions in the contest in vour city?" "This struggle in Philadelphia was made under many disadvantages by those who do not agree to be ruled by the sheriff's office, but rather than fight outside of the line of the party they preferred to fight at this disadvantage. "What effect on the party has the control of this unpopular faction?" "While the great body of disinterested Democrats in Philadelphia submit to this ring domination, and vote for the ticket put in the field, yet there is a large proportion that refuse to go to the polls under such leadership. For instance in 1876 we polled 64,000 votes and more, while at the last election this management has dwindled our aggregate vote to 45,000, and has brought up the Republican majority in Philadelphia from 14,000 to 30,000."

"There has been a good deal of talk in the newspapers and elsewhere con-cerning your attitude toward Mr. Tilden. Are you willing to make any public declaration on that point."
"I am in favor of Mr. Tilden. I think there ought to be a reconciliation in New York, and if there is he ought to

"Returning to Pennsylvania politics for a moment, what idea have you concerning the attitude of the State delegation to the next Convention.' "The Pennsylvania delegation to the National Convention, in my opinion, is not likely to be instructed for any Presidential candidate, but will leave the nominee for whom Pennsylvania will cast her vote to the best judgment of the delegates when they shall come together at the National Convention."

be nominated."

He Dares to Do Right.

Hartford Courant (Rep.) Senator Bayard is entitled to praise from all believers in a safe currency for his prompt action in introducing in the senate a resolution for the repeal of the legal-tender clause. Mr. Bayard is an earnest believer in sound money and he shows that he has the courage of his convictions by making a move which will seriously damage his chances of receiving the Presidential nomination. It is the right thing to do, but unfortu-nately two many leaders in both par-ties are afraid to act courageously lest the prospects of party success be damaged. It is a mistake as well as a cowardly notion. Two years ago the infla-tion craze was on and the advocates of honest finances were in an as apparently hopless a minority as are those now who wish to see the greenback danger removed. Had they taken counsel of their fears and held their peace in the press and forum there would not have been the popular reaction shown in the recent elections, and the demand for 'more paper money" would find more dvocates than the few lunatics left in the House without tollowers.

A Word About the Courthouse.

Burdette, writing from Philadelphia to the Burlington Hawkeye, says: meanest thing in the world to speak in s a courthouse. I have often wondered why the architects of courthouses were not always hanged at the dedication of the building. A courthouse is built to talk in. The court room is made for that purpose. The architect, the con-tractor and the builder all know that. And if the courthouse is a very cheap, shabby, old fashioned sort of an affair, worth about nine hundred and fifty thousand dollars, the chances are that the man speaking from the bench can be heard half way to the door. But if it is a handsome affair and costs the county anywhere from one hundred and fifty thousand to half a million dollars, then a lawyer, climbing into the laps of the jurors, and bellowing his eloquence into their respective ears, can make himself heard. Why, the reason why the Judge always writes out his charge to the jury, and the foreman always brings in the ver-dict in writing, because, in most court-houses, the jury would never know anything about the charge, and the court would never know whether the prisoner had been hanged or awarded a premium of $200, in the human voice

THREE TIMES TRIED.

REPRIEVED WHEN NEAR DEATH'S DOOR.

Nathan Orlando Greenfield, Who Has Twice Heard the Death Sentence Passed.

Philadelphia Times, Dec. 11. Governor Robinson decided to-day to grant a reprieve until January 20th to Nathan Orlando Greenfield sentenced to be hanged at Syracuse on Friday' for the murder of his wife. Judge S. C. Huntington, his counsel, made a long argument yesterday, asking for a commutation to imprisonment for life or a reprieve, so that the case could be carried to the general term.

Greenfield, in 1870, was known in Orwell, a back township of Oswego county, as a slow-minded but exemplary young farmer and a close attendant at the Methedist Sunday school. When at the age of twenty he created a sensation by marrying pretty Alice Bloodgood, not yet fifteen years old, people wondered where he got the spunk. He purchased, with a mortgage, a farm of fifty acres, and the young couple lived in a little house of four or five rooms. It was fourteen or fifteen rods only from the larger homestead where he had been brought up. Three children were horn to them, and for a time lhey lived happi-ly. Four years ago Greenfield grew jealous of his pretty young wife, and it became known about the neighborhood that he beat her and treated her badly. Finally the wife determined to leave her husband, and October 21, 1875, was fixed upon as the date. William Hinds agreed to come after her, and of this man Greenfield was extremely jealous. He suspected that Hinds might visit the house on the evening before the 21st, and between I1 and 12 o'clock on the evening of the 20th he called on a former friend named Willirm

Grinnell, who had lived about forty rods from Greenfield's house. He told Grinnell that his wife was going to leave him and live with Grinnell's son Charles. He then went away, but returned about half-past 3 o'clock in the morning. He says he went to his father's house to sleep, but being wakeful he looked out of the window to his own house and saw some persons moving within it. This caused him, he says, to hurry out of his fath-er's house, but not wishing to do anything under his peculiar circumstances without witnesses, he went out again to Grinnell's house. He rapped at a window and shouted to Grinuell in excited tones to get up, as he believed that Hines had come to his house to carry off his wife to the depot. While Grin-nell was making haste to dress Greenfield went back to his father's house and soon returned in company with his father. The three then went to the husband's house. There was no light there nor any motion. They began to grope for Mrs. Greenfield's bedroom. There was no light and they could hear no sound, either of breathing or of alarm. The husband, coming to the bed-room door first, pushed it open, at the same time exclaiming: "Oh, my God! I'll bet she's dead!" Then a match was struck, and by the light the first view was had of Alice Greenfield's body. Her head and shoulders lay under the bed, the body face downward, with an arm crossed under it. The feet extended toward the middle of the floor. Her thin night dress had been torn to shreds, as though in a death-struggle. Her forehead was ter-bed clothes. Circumstantial evidence pointed strongly to Greenfield and he was arrested. His first trial, at Oswego, was in May, 1876, and the jury disagreed. In February and March, 1877, Greenfield was again tried. The verdict was murder in the first degree. After a great many rebuffs counsel for the prisoner succeeded in getting a new trial and a change of venue, and in September last Greenfield was tried for third time, at Syracuse. Mr. Lamoree of the prosecution, in opening the case, said that Greenfield, when only twenty years of age, married a fair, beautiful and inexperienced girl only fourteen years of age. He treated her with cruelty because jealous of her and finally threatened her life. He stole in upon her at night, and while she slept knocked her senseless with a club and then dragged her to the floor and stabbed her in the throat with a pocketknife. Then he was traced by his tracks and various spots of blood to his father's house. Greenfield was again

the floor, and clots of blood fleeked the cut.

Her night dress was saturated convicted and sentenced to be hanged on Friday next. But the lawyers had not yet given up the fight. In the latter part of last October interest was revived by the publication of alleged revelations made in Lafayette, Ind., which charged the murder of Alice Greenfield upon Royal and Alden Kellogg and George Hinds, and declared Orlando Greenfield, the prisoner, to be innocent of the crime. These alleged revelations produced a marked effect upon public opinion, which was di-vided over the question of Greenfield's innocence or guilt. The substance of the Indiana story was that an old lady by the name of Milly Drake, who was said to be the mother of Alden and Royal Kellogg, had stated to a reporter that the Kelloggs confessed to her that they and George Hinds killed Mrs. Greenfield, first having committed an assault upon her person and then murdering her to cover up their crime. John J. Lamoree, the leading spirit of the prosecution, pronounced the whole story a plot of the defense, but the de-fense laid great stress upon the evidence. At the first trial part of the evidence had been brought out, but after the third conviction the lawyers contended that much of importance had been ruled out and a desperate effort was made for a fourth trial, based on the exceptions taken. It was claimed that there were new and startling revelations which would prove Greenfield's innocence. During the past few days the lawyers have been particularly ac tive and have now gained another vic-tory. Greenfield, who is in jail at Syra-cuse, is in the best of humor. Public opinion is greatly divided. Attempted Assassination.

CALCUTTA, Dec. 12-6:59 P. M.-Lord Lytton, Viceroy of India, on his arrival here this evening from a tour of the provinces, was twice fired at but escaped njury. The would-be assassin has been arrested.

712 grains at the store where it weighed most—a difference of 134 grains. Upon these scales are weighed prescriptions where the variation of a fractional part of a grain might do infinite mischief. A difference of more than 20 per cent, in the scales of thirteen apothecaries is not pleasant to contemplate.

LOVE CONQUERS ALL.

A Pretty Tight-Rope Walker's Romance.

Miss Ida Hall, a pretty and petite blonde, and J. S. Santord, a quiet gentlemanly-looking young man, were married by Esquire Roberts, yesterday afternoon, shortly past the noon hour, and two hours later the young lady was delighting thousands by her graceful evolutions on the tight-rope which is stretched from Viela Hall to Simon Cahn's Galt House. There was nothing to indicate that she had just emerged victorious from a struggle with a cruel parent, and was the heroine of a quiet romance. Miss Hall, who was professionally known as "Mattie Potter, the daring performer on the aerial wire,' daring performer on the aerial wire, is quite young, apparently not more than eighteen, and is the daughter of George W. Hall, the proprietor of the museum and variety show at Vile Hall Mr. Hall is known to showmen in every and he has accumulated bushels of money. In fact it is generally believed that, if he wanted to, Mr. Hall could live in a National bank and make his fires out of legal-tender notes. The fires out of legal-tender notes. The show has been located here for a week and one of the attaches was Mr. Sandford, who officiated as treasurer. Naturally the two young people met each other frequently and friendship developed into the most ardent devotion. The cruel parent was obstinate, however, and refused to hear of marriage. Indeed, Mr. Hall told his daughter several days ago he was so well provided with means that there was no necessity for her continuing to perform on the tight rope, and that he had concluded to send her to a boarding-school, where her education could be finished. On Thursday he purchased a railroad ticket and made all preparations for her de-parture on Friday. Miss Hall told her acquaintances good-by, and on Friday left the city, only to return on the next train however. At the depot she took a carriage, and Friday evening was driven to the St. Cloud Hotel, where she was assigned to apartments. She immediately notified her lover of her presence, and together they determined to dare all and marry. Yesterday morning Mr. Sandford repaired to the St. Cloud, where Miss Hall was still stopping, and after another interview he sought Mr. Hall. A long parley was held, at the end of which Mr. Hall withdrew his opposition and went in person to conduct the bride from the hotel. So they all were united. A license was procured and the young people made happy.

The South Again.

Tableau-Curtain.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 .- At a meeting of the Union League Club last night, Col-onel Rush C. Hawkins offered a resolu-tion that no Southern members should be elected, and, in supporting it, said that the South was again manifesting menacing symptoms, and it was necessary to take some action. Jackson S Schultz thought the resolution should be laid on the table, as it was impossible to tell who were Democrats and who were not. A vote was taken and the resolution was laid on the table.

FROM GREENSBORO.

THE GREENSBORO WHITE AMA-TEUR MINSTRELS.

The Colored Masons-Court News-Visitors in the City,

Special Correspondence News. GREENSBOR), Dec. 11, 1879.—I must deviate somewhat from my regular custom and speak of the stage, in view of the fact that the amateur minstrels gave their first entertainment in disguise in Benbow Hall, on Tuesday night, to a very full and appreciative house of the very best of our citizens, the objects of the funds being to uniform and add to their musical instruments. And when I say that it was their first effort it is necessary to say that the oft and continued cheering and hearty good laughter that came up from everybody and all parts of the house told how said effort was appreciated. There are ten characters, some of which is that a great deal of their play is orig-inal, made to suit the occasion.

Some of the characters are quite gifted, and I bespeak for them any-where they will go to play a full and are hard to beat with a "bow and horn." One main feature with them appreciative house.

Requests were sent for a repetition at once, which they announced for next night, which, however, was deferred on account of the weather. They now propose to do so early and divivde the proceeds with the Orphan Asylum. A good move.

"Baby Mine," in song and act with a doll, was well done and highly applauded; also "Gwine Back to Dixie" (song and act); also "Grum Nigger and Dead Nigger," closing with the exceedingly amusing "Barber Shop"— netting $70.

The Grand Lodge of colored Masons are in session here; a fine looking body of colored delegates, presided over by Rev. J. H. Hood, Grand Master of the order in North Carolina.
One delegate said there was one hundred and fifty in attendance. They claim their first lodge was founded in this State in 1784 under the Grand Lodge of England. Superior Court is in session, with some twenty lawyers in attendance-many from other counties. Among them I notice Leach, Boyd, of Wentworth, Boyd, of Graham, (acting for Strudwick, who is sick at home) Reid, Bradshaw, and many others, with Judge Gilmer also, whose courts are now over. There were no less than six Judges in town on Sabbath last.

The Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railroad has received a batch of seventeen convicts from the western part of the State. Governor Vance passed on to Washington last Sunday.

A MAN ON THE ROOF. The Roxborough Lady who Fired a Pistol at Night and Raised an A Roxborough gentleman, residing on Ridge avenue, who is engaged in the purchase and sale of blooded horses, departed for the blue grass regions of Kentucky several days ago to look after business matters. His wife is the owner of some very fine diamond jewelry. Before her husband left he purchased her a very handsome seven-shooter of the latest pattern and instructed her how to use it. He was not without apprehensions that she would have to employ her knowledge in his absence upon some covetous wretches who might choose to make a foray upon his man sion and attempt to steal the diamonds On Tuesday night, about 11 o'clock, the lady, who had not yet retired, was sud denly startled by the conviction that she heard stealthly footsteps upon the roof of her dwelling. She ran to the bureau, drew the revolver and fired it out of the window. Just about that time a street car passed by not far distant from the mansion. To the eyes of the passengers who witnessed the flashes of the weapon from the window a tragic scence appeared to be en-acting with vividly exaggerated features. They startled a police lieutenant with the story about midnight, and he sent half a dozen valiant men with bilhes and revolvers flying out upon the road at a 2.40 gait. The story was that they had seen a woman at a window struggling desperately with two ruffians, who had fired at her as the car passed the spot. The ghastly prospect ahead lent wings to the policemen's feet. When they reached the place where the firing had been seen there was nobody more astonished than the lady who had fired the shots and was supposed to be the victim of a bloody tragedy. The reinforcements who joined the policemen in their rush swelled the throng to about fifty, and this force appeared formidable to the lady, who was unhurt. She told how she had come to fire her pistol. A search was made all around the property, but no intruders were discoverable. road was scoured, and two men, who said they were from Lower Marion, Montgomery county, were overhauled as suspicious characters. They explained that they had visited a gentleman up the road. Their statement was doubted by some of the policemen, and they had to trudge back, in company with the others, to the place. There their story was fully borne out. They took the thing good-naturedly and said they did not regret it, because they had been given an opportunity of testifying to the vigilance of the guardians of the peace of Philadelphia.

Mark Twain is a heartless satirist as well as a sort of wag. Not long ago he wrote to the Hartford Courant making mouths at the Postmaster General for insisting that the name of a county should be used in addressing a letter. The other day Thomas B. Kirby, Mr. Key's private secretary, replied to Mr. Clemens personally, upbraiding him in what was intended to be a funny manner for the growl in the Courant. Now ner for the growl in the Courant. Now Mr. Clemens, addressing Kirby as "my callow friend," drenches him with ink and pours a whole quart of it down his throat. "I was talking to the dog, not to the tail," says Mr. Clemens; "if I stepped on this tail it was not to call the tail's attention to anything, but all the direct the attention of the main. only to direct the attention of the main body of the animal. You perceive that being a private secretary, I was talking to the department, not to you—its ir-responsible, inexpensive, unnecessary appendage." Mr. Clemens adds that when he rings a bell his business isn't with the bell, but with the owner of it. Mr. Kirby is not the boot, but the bootjack; not the molasses, but the bung of the barrel; not the lightning, but the lightning-rod.

Dying Out.

The exodus fever has died out in this section. Our colored people do not seem to take to the idea. They are sen-means. They are not treated well by the whites, who look upon them as in-terlopers and rather a drag than an aid to prosperity.

Tom Kennedy and Tom Wood, Golds. "You always had plenty of work down there and voted at every election, didn't you ?"

"Yes. boss; we don't find no fault about dat." Just here Capt. O. S. B. Wall, the chief engineer of the movement at this end of the line, who was flying around among the emigrants like a swallow before a storm, put in an appearance and the Post plied him for information. Wall was mad. He said an evening paper had charged him with making money out of the emigration movemen and it was a durned lie, concocted by some mean nigger who was opposed to the whole thing."

"We started this scheme upwards of a year ago," said Wall, "and have sent to Indiana about 300 people, and we are going to send more. The State committee at Indianapolis will receive them and distribute them among the farmers in the neighborhood of Greencastle. The farmers of three or four of the counties adjoining Indianapolis sent for two or three thousand hands some time ago, and we are simply filling their orders. "How many will it take to overcome the Democratic majority in that State,' inquired the Post. "Politics has nothing to do with it, I assure you. They will, of course, become voters in time. but that's not their main object in going to Indiana."

"When did they get here?" asked the Post, just as Wall was locking the doors of the cars to keep the emigrants

"Two or three days ago. We have had them over at St. Paul's church, There will be 100 or more additional here in a few days-' "What's the fare from here to Indian-

Expressions of Opinion Why General Cox is not now Governor of North Carolina. Mr. 'Jake H. Halliburton, of the Morganton Burke Blade, slashes at the "Mud Cut (off) Movement" in this style: "Eastern Democrats should remem "Eastern Democrats should remember that while "their western breth" ren," (that is what you call us about election times,) pay small taxes they are very clever fellows especially when the constitution of the State amended so as to relieve the East from negro rule and domination, and have the megis and domination and have the magis-trates appointed by the Legislature so as to have Democratic magistrates in the eastern counties instead of electing the eastern counties instead of electing them by the people as a majority of the party in the west prefer. These same western counties that pay solittle taxes have a tolerable large vote and answer a good purpose for the eastern Democrats to make combinations with at State conventions to defeat "the Raleigh Ring". Did not these same contents Ring." Did not these same eastern Ring. Did not these same eastern Democrats obtain the nomination of the present Governor for the second place on the ticket in that way? You eastern Democrats who are making such ado about the small taxes the western counties pay, had better hush your fuss or the hitherto unexplained mistery as to the causes of a large por mistery as to the causes of a large por-tion of the vote of the West in the State convention of 1876 deserting General Cox and thereby defeating him for the second place on the ticket, and nomi-nating the present Governor who was an eastern man, might all be brought to light. We were a delegate and repre-sented one-ninetieth part of the entire Democratic vote of the State in that convention, and can it necessary explain all about the matter, but will here remark that if the east had not plowed with the Democratic heifer of the west, General W. R. Cox would to-day be the Governor of North Carolina.

It does not occur to us as exactly in good taste or calculated to inure to the public interests for those papers or parties which advocate the annual appropriations to the extension of the Western North Carolina Railroad to charge all sorts of wrong intentions charge all sorts of wrong intentions upon those who are of a different way of thinking.

Neither does it mend matters much to insinuate that a discussion of this matter has been commenced by Democrats at the instigation of Radical leaders. Such charges and innuendoes are entirely out of place, and will not be tol-erated by those who are looking at this question in the light of the public good.

It is impolitic and unwise, as well as burdensome, to a portion of the State to continue these appropriations after the road is completed to Asheville, why not let the subject be discussed entirely free from political considerations and then left to the discretion and wisdom of the next Legi

What has it to do with politics any way? or how can its advocacy or op-position affect the standing of any member of the Democratic party? Now, Granville county pays every year $6,000 to this road, nearly as much as all the State taxes of the seven counties directly interested in its extension. Other Eastern counties pay in equal proportion and some nearly double what Granville pays.

Is it anything very remarkable that Granville, or Wake, which annually sends up $15,000 should desire to look into this matter and ascertain if the investments are wise and judicous?

It is a very natural position to take, and we advise our friends who look through different spectacles to be careful how they use expressions reflecting upon the party loyalty of those differing with them in this matter. If it is necessary that this subject shall be discussed let it be done in a calm, dispassionate manner, and let alone the use of terms which are only calculated to irritate and cannot con-

JEFFERSON DAVIS, in a letter to an Illinois correspondent, describes himself as a man who has served the country long. He also expounds at length the true meaning of the Constitution. There is a seasonable coolness about this.

THE London Times states: "It is a fact that Lord Beaconsfield has three times tendered his resignation to the Queen within the last six months, and that her Majesty has each time begged him o reconsider his request to be relieved tof his duties."

A NEW badge of the Nihilist panic is ordered now to be hung out in every house in St. Petersburg-a red lamp on every householders door at night, bearing the number of his house. This, however, will be a sign, not of fear among the people, but of increased terror among the ruling classes.

THE New York Herald publishes an editorial aimed at the disreputable practice of inventing widows for wealthy dead men, drawing its text mainly from the famous Lewis case which came to such a startling end in the New Jersey Court of Chancery the other day. The moral to be drawn from its remarks is that every wealthy man should have a weil-authenticated widow on hand at the time of his death, and so spare the widow-inventors the necessity of furnishing his estate with one of their own manufacture.

COLONEL MCCLURE, of the Philadelphia Times, is studying the situation at Washington. He finds a growing stalwart coldness toward Grant, born of the effort to nurse the third-term movement at the South. The Philadelphia editor predicts that the Republican must steer clear of anything that looks like indorsing the administration: "The republicans will not load themselves either with Hayes or the means by which Hayes was given the presidency over his competitor, who was elected by a quarter million majority. There will be a clean start in the next battle. It may be Grant; it may be Blaine, but it will not be the favorite of Hayes or one of the Louisiana visiting statesmen." The help that Grant may expect at the South is sifted to this: "Looking at the South as a factor in the Grant movement, I regard it as likely to fail in its expected offices, and Grant must be taken as a straight Republican, if taken at all, as the standard-bearer for 1880."

AFTER a careful survey of the field, Colonel McClure writes from Washington to his paper, the Philadelphia Times, that outside of Conkling and Cameron, the Republican leaders do not want Grant; and that while the masses are undoubtedly for him, the men who control primaries and run delegations at political conventions will work the machine against him. As for the Grant boom in the South, he thinks it a barren ideality just now although in the present condition of politics there is no telling what may turn up. If Grant can't be elected without the electoral vote of the South, the Colonel is confident he wont get it; but if he is sure of his election without it, it may be thrown in his interest to make favor for him in that section. Upon the whole he believes that if the General is nominated at all it will be as the straight Republican candidate. Colonel Mc-Clure believes Secretary Sherman will be out of the fight before the Convention meets; but it is not likely that rival aspirants will delude themselves with that comfortable hope.

THE State of New Jersey is agitated throughout its length and breadth over the "Sunday Question." The elements opposing each other on this issue are both extreme. The "liberal" element insists that there shall be Sunday excursions, that liquor saloons shall be allowel to keep a door open without molestation, and that innocent games may be indulged in. The opposing element demands a most rigid observance of the Sabbath, and that laws shall be enacted and enforced to prevent any sort of recreation on that day. The question has attained such prominence that it is to be brought before the Leg islature this winter for settlement. Each element is prepared to be present in force in the legislative halls and demand that its principles shall be carried out. In contending over the question men have laid aside party feeling and party ties, and it is probable that this issue will exercise considerable influence upon the politics of the State next year. If the law making power shall take one side of the question it will array the other side against it, and the feeling is so bitter that should a middle course be pursued it would likely dissatisfy both elements. Both the political parties are watching this question closely, and are endeavoring to trim their sails so as to make capital out of it.

BAYARD'S RESOLUTION.

Senator Hampton, it is understood, thoroughly approves of Bayard's resolution, not only as an opportune but necessary measure, and thinks it offers a very great opportunity to the Democratic party to perform an important service to the country, and in doing so to establish a thoroughly Democratic principle. He believes that the Democratic South ought especially to rally to the support of Mr. Bayard's resolution, because it opens the way for them to effectually allay the suspicions of the North against the South. He believes that Northern capital has become alarmed lest the South, if the Democratic party should come into power, Beware of counterfeits.

should insist on a huge inflation and watering of the currency as a means of sealing and to a great extent repudiating war debts and private debts, and that the Bayard resolution, if it had no other importance, would be a measure of great political moment, because sincere and zeal aus Southern support of it and its passage by Southern votes would allay all these Northern suspi-

Other leading Southern Senators are said to entertain the same views as those expressed by South Carolina's most gifted son. Mr. Bayard's resolution will unquestionably demonstrate a strength that will surprise many when it comes to a vote. It is manifestly the leading measure of the present Congress, and certainly one upon which the entire Southern delegation should, and most probably will be united-not rom partisan or sectional motives, but because it is a measure calculated to benefit the whole country.

THE EXODUS.

The exodus movement in this State cannot be attributed to any discontent existing among the colored people as a race. The secret of the whole matter lies in the allurement and machination of corrupt and wiley Radical demagogues, who are going about the country, destroying the peace and contentment of happy homes, to accomplish sinister political purposes. The negro is fascinated and dazzled by their deceptive and glowing delineations of some far off modern Paradise, where the colored man can fold his arms and sit down in the lap of luxury and felicity, the lord of all he surveys. And this reminds us the "forty acres and a mule" delusion whereby the negro was induced to turn his back upon his best and truest friends, and pin his hopes to a party which has from the beginning used him as a pliant tool. But our colored people are beginning to discern the "milk in the cocoannt;" that the wonderful interest manifested by these Radical hirelings in their welfare is simply the promptings and affectations of political chicanery. They begin to understand this exodus trick in its true light, and are giving it the cold shoulder. The relations existing between the two races in this State are known and acknowledged to be the most amicable, and all we ask, in the language of the Republican, (a paper published in this city by colored men) "is to be let alone; let politicians keep their hands off." And we believe this is the sentiment of nine-tenth's of the colored people of the State. They are encouraged and substantially aided by the whites in their struggles to elevate themselves in a moral, social and material point of view. And we are glad to see that they are steadily becoming to be wiser and better citizens, and all they ask is to be let alone in their commendable efforts to promote their best interests, which re interwoven with the interests of their white neighbors. Many have found, by a bitter experience, that "there is no place like home." Those who could have returned-some walking hundreds of miles, suffering from exposure and hunger-to their native homes in the sunny South, overjoyed once more to grasp a friendly hand and mingle with friends ever ready and willing to help them along the rugged pathway of life. And their experience will serve as a warning to those who are restless and would blindly seek other fields of operation, trusting to the false representations of the unprincipled scavengers who are sneaking around, doing the dirty work of the Republican party. PERSONAL,

S. S. Cox is preparing a paper on negro humor. Mr. O. B. Frothingham will spend the winter in Rome.

Senator Randolph thinks New Jersey is all right for the Democrats next year. Senator Jones is reported to have bettered his fortune by several millions. Senator Platt, of Connecticut is fast recovering his somewhat broken Senator David Davis, who was much prostrated by the death of his wife, is now at Washington.

Captain James B. Eads, of the Mississippi jetties has been traveling i Asiatic lands for several months. He has visited Jerusalem, Jaffa and Cairo. Kossuth, old as he is, daily devotes ten hours out of every twenty-four to writing and arranging the book in which he is giving to the world not only his personal memoirs, but his political writing; and speeches.

Postmaster-General Key says he can remember when Andrew Johnson used to stop at his father's, who was a Tennessee farmer, and young Key always had the job of polishing off Johnson's Mr. Hendricks, of Indiana, is now sixty years old. The Washington cor-respondent of the Boston Journal says that Mr. Hendricks's wife firmely believes that sooner or later she will reign in the White House. Jay Gould said at St. Louis that he had just ended a trip of two thousand two hundred miles on railroads controlled by himself. The whole run was made in eight days. Wade Hampton cordially indorses Senator Bayard's legal-tender resolution, and thinks the South ought to rally to its support. It opens a way for allaying northern suspicion against the South. Montgomery Blair continues to assure the New York Sun that "cir-cumstances have made Tilden as necessary as Lincoln was" to the country. Mr. Blair is a "Lone Fisherman." Colonel George E. Waring, the sanitary engineer, has been investigating the drainage at Memphis, and the citizens of that feverstricken place have decided to adopt his plans for the construction of sewers. Lord Kintore, of Scotland, has sent a shephera's crook as a present to the Rev. Dr. T. De Witt Falmage. His lord-ship says that the crook, which is made of hard wood, is typical of the Rev Dr's calling—a shepherd of the Lord's sheep

John T. Raymond matched to some purpose while in Chicago. He met a friend on his way to buy a pair of gloves and matched him not only for the gloves, but $28 besides. Encouraged by his luck, he next tackled the managing editor of a Sunday paper-double or quits for a column advertisement. He won. Then he rushed round to Hooley's and matched the manager for a column in another Sunday paper, and won again. The proprietor of the first Sunday journal heard of it, and cursed his luck in that the actor met his editor

What is Hay Fever?

This fashionable disorder is supposed to be an affection of the mucous membrane of the nose. They say that Henry's Carbolic salve will cure it if used freely and persistently. Give it a trial.

Grant's Trip South. General Grant has been tendered a special train over the Coast Line route through Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina and Florida, if he should desire to sail for Cuba from a Southern port. He is to give an answer when he reaches Philadelphia. The railroad authorities believe he will accept. His route will be through Richmond, Petersburg, Wilmington and Charleston. This will not interfere with his original programme, except that he will sail from the Florida coast instead of New York. Invitations are raining down upon the President and his cabinet from Cincinnati and Philadelphia asking them to be present and take part in the vari-ous Grant festivities. It is likely that the President and several cabinet ofticers will go to Philadelphia. Congress will probably not adjourn in order to visit Philadelphia in a body. Sam Randall opposes that sort of thing. New York Tribune.

General Grant must have made a slip of the pen when he wrote to Hamilton Fish, Jr., that he had been invited to "accept a special car through to Key West, Florida." Key West is an is-land in the Gulf of Mexico, and the nearest railroad is more than three hundred miles distant. Possibly General Grant intends to go by rail to Cedar Keys and thence by coasting steamer to Key West, where he could get a New Orleans steamer to Havana. A more direct way to reach Cuba, howver, would be to take the steamer from Jacksonville, Florida, which touches at Nassan, The sail is a short one, and the sea is almost always smooth. General Grant shows the wisdom of an experienced traveler in makng the greater part of his journey to Havana by land, and avoiding the rough passage around Cape Hatteras, which is the dread of winter voyagers from New York to tropical points. His trip through the South from Washington to Florida, will certainly afford the people through Virginia, the Carolinas, and Georgia, an opportunity to show him such courtesy as they may be disposed to proffer, and will b watched for signs of the political friendliness towards him which is reported on rather scanty authority, to exist in

More Gospel Wanted-Not More Law. New York Sun, Dec. 11th.

All the attempts to tinker at the laws for the election of President and Vice-President are entirely uncalled for. The law is good enough and sufficient as it stands. What is really needed is more gospel, and not more law.

The preachers should take the politicians in hand and preach to them un-ceasingly the gospel of common hones-ty. This should be preached to both parties every Sunday, while for the Republicans, specially, mid-week and protracted meetings should be held. If this preaching is effectual, nothing more will be needed. A disposition to count the votes honestly, under the existing law, is all the country requires.

The stomch is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general ire costive, sometimes alternative with ax; the head is troubled with pain, ccompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up to titude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases nave occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

Rev. B F. Woodward, P. E., Na. Conf. About twelve years I suffered from Dyspepsia. Falling in with this remedy, I gave it a fair trial. After its use I could eat anything with impunity. I am sure I amindebted to this medicine for what of health and physical comfort I have had for the last sixteen years. I have known many since to be relieved by its use.

I have used the mixture in my family for years, and have taken it for a Dyspepsia Colic, which threatened my life, and was cured, eating any diet without hurt. I have recommended it to other sufferers with happiest results. It is the best tonic and corrective I ever knew. For prostration from Dyspepsia or Liver Disease it is invaluable.

I have been afflicted with Eczema or Salt Rheum on my scalp, breast, and limbs for ive years, during which time I have been ander the treatment of physicians, or at mineral springs, or taking some kind of medicine. I have been treated by Drs — of —, Dr. — of —, and visited sulphur springs and taken numbers of patent medicines all without the cintest approach to ines, all without the faintest approach to

April 1st last, I began the use of CUTICURA, which was immediately successful in my case, entirely curing me. I have not had a clean scalp for 15 years until the use of CUTICURA entirely healed it and left it clean and healthy. The other parts of my body were affected in a more aggravated form, but are now completely healed. I believe myself completely cured. I shall continue the UTICURA RESOLVENT as directed, for its wonderful action on the ected, for its wonderful action on the acted, for its wonderful action on the atomach and bowels and cooling influence in the blood. The Concert Last Night.

The spirit of '76 still survives. In fact we are not sure such spirit has not decided upon a reappearance, and that be indicted for dealing in the black art. We have been told at times of "two hearts that beat as one," but became convinced last evening that something more incredible had taken place at Peace Institute, and that each individual body had become possessed of two souls. Else how can it be ac-counted for, that from the accient fa costumes and powdered locks of 1779, the tie-wigs the knee breeches, the rustling silks and demure laces, the eyes of 1879 looked out? Jemima Tidball, Naney Thoroughgood, Deborah Rightbody, Priscilla Stebbins, Mehitable Prynne and a dozen other quaintly apparreled damsels, or as the bill has it, "womenne singers," supported by Squire Nicolas Sillsbee and Jonathan Drake, Zebediah Throope and others looked ready for a gala evening with Washington and his staff, but proved equally able to provide the good people of Raleigh with entertainment. Where all is good, individual comment is needless. The programme was faithful to both past and present, and 1779 disappeared triumphantly to allow room for the same operation from 1879. The energy, which in the midst of business cares and absorbing work, led several well known citizens to give not only time, but lacongratulate themselves on being supplemented by so thoroughly trained a force as the young ladies of Peace Institute, who respond as one voice to the skillful touch of their well known Professor, and it should be added, Professoress. The programme embraced several parts, songs, &c.

What Physicians at Home and Abroad Think of the Seven Springs Iron and Alum Mass.

In the treatment of Dyspepsia, Chlorosis, Anamia, Nervous and Muscular Debility, Nervous and Sick Headache, Dysmenorrhea, Menorrhagia, Amenor-rhea, diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder and such like organic or functional disturbances, I know of no remedy upon which I can rely with more certainty of satisfactory results than the "Seven Springs Mass."
W. F. BARR, M. D.,

Abingdon, Va.

I have found no one single remedy to yield such satisfactory results as the "Seven Springs Mass." In the treat-ment of Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhea, Anamia, Chlorosis, and for Chronic Eczema, I find it invaluable, associated with appropriate topical treatment.

GEO. T. HARRISON, M. D.,

New York City.

From my experience with the "Iron and Alum Mass," I believe it will prove the best medicine we have in use, for G. M. D. PATTERSON, M. D., Eaglewood, Texas.

For Dyspepsia, Ulcerations of the Throat, Inflammation of the Neck of the Bladder, Leucorrhœa, etc., the "Seven Springs Mass" seems to act with almost specific effect. E. O. GRIGSBY,

We could extend this list into the thousands with such testimonials from physicians from every State in the Union, but these are sufficient to indicate its application. Mean Competition. Since the introduction of Patapsco Baking Powder on the market and the complete revolution it has effected in the trade, venders of unreliable powders have sought to sell their goods on the popularity of Patapsco by claiming the same popularity. Don't believe them: Stick to what you know to be good.
